CASTLE GARDEN NOTES.

Marie Schroff, a young and comely Dutch girl, arrived with other immigrants from Holland on the steamship Maasdam on October 30. She sent word to A. Willigas, a relative, that she had arrived, but he failed to receive the message before she left Castle Garden. Mr. Willigas says that she has been missing since that time, and that he can learn no trace of her.

Louis Harting, a Prussian, who arrived here on the steamship General Werder, on February 6, being destitute and unable to get employment is anxious to be sent back to Germany. He stated that while he was in prison in Germany for a misdemeanor committed by him, he was examined by the doctor, who pronounced him insane, and that to get rid of him he was given free passage to this country.

Enoch Stampler, a Bohemian, who arrived here with his wife and three children on July 1, was also an applicant for free passage to Germany for himself and family. He declared that his impaired eyesight had made it hapossible for him to obtain employment, and that for two menths he and his family, in their destitute condition, had slept in barns and haystacks, and had been saved from starvation only by begging from place to place.

PREPARING FOR FROSECUTING PORTER.

Assistant District Attorney O'Byrne, who expects to have charge of the prosecution of "Billy" Porter, who is to be tried in the Court of Over and Terminer for the killing of the burglar Walsh, had a plan prepared of the interior of "Shang" Draper's liquor-store in Sixth-ave., where the shooting took place. From this plan, and from a personal examination of the place, E. M. Applegate, of the District-Attorney's office, has made a model of the liquor-store which is considered remarkably accurate. The doors and tables, bur and partitions are shown in the model, and the exact spots where Walsh first stood, and where the bodies of Walsh and Irving were found, are indicated. The points corresponding to the places where bullet-holes were found are marked, and lorg needles are used to show the directions from which the shots are supposed to have come. Great ingenuity is displayed in marking all important points. The model will be used by Mr. O'Byrne in the trial.

The Excise Commissioners yesterday revoked the license held by William Draper for the liquor store at No. 466 Sixth-ave. Captain Williams was instructed to prevent the sale of liquor in the place. PREPARING FOR PROSECUTING PORTER.

OBJECTING TO THE AQUEDUCT ROUTE.

Property-owners living on the east bank of the Hudson, between Sing Sing and New-York, have sent a protest to the Aqueduct Commissioners in regard to the proposed location of the new aqueduct. They state that it is undesirable to have the two aqueducts in close proximity mease of accident, and that the great value of the land through which the proposed line is to run makes that route objectionable. This land, they state, is worth $1,000 an acre, while the value of the property on the Saw Mill Valley route does not greatly exceed $100 an acre. The outlay to secure the right of way would be much less by the Saw Mill Valley route, and expensive country seats and other valuable property would not have to be destroyed. Another objection raised is that the construction of the aqueduct on the proposed line will seriously endanger the health of 50,000 persons, and that it is unnecessary that such an injury should be done while there is another route equally practicable for the line of the aqueduct. It is further stated that no saving can be made to New-York by the proposed route which will not be at the expense of equal or greater damage to Westchester County, and that no unjust advantage should be taken of the Legislature, The state of the Legislatu OBJECTING TO THE AQUEDUCT ROUTE.

HOW ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE MAY BE HELPED.

The alumni of St. John's College, Fordham, gathered within the walls of their Alma Mater yesterday and were entertained at dinner by the Rev. Father Dealy, president of the college, First a tour of the college building was made. The tour of reminiscence over, they proceeded to the study hall, where J. F. Butler, of the present senior class, welcomed them to the college in a neat speech, to which John R. G. Hassard, president of the graduates. Then the Alumni and the Father proceeded to the collegians' refectory, where two large tables were spread, presided over by Father Dealy.

When dinner was over Mr. Hassard moved the passage of a resolution offered at a previous meeting, so amending the by-laws of the Association as to render eligible all who had been students at St. John's, whether or not they had taken degrees. The resolution was adopted. Mr. Hassard then called upon Father Dealy for suggestions as to how the Alumni Association could be of benefit to the college.

Father Dealy spoke in part as follows: HOW ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE MAY BE HELPED.

Father Dealy spoke in part as follows:
I am comparatively a stranger to some of the members of this Association, but I am no stranger to the loyal sentiment which pervades it. It was my intention to assemble you together in social intercourse in order that you might better know each other and in order that you might better know each other and in order that you might learn the needs of your Alma Mater and be stimulated to advance her interests. It has been, of late, trying times for Catholic institutions of learning in this country. Many of them have been pushed to the wall and some have been forced to su spend altogether. But in spite of all this the outlook is very bright for St. John's. The number of students have increased 10 per cent this year over last year, and it ere are a greater number of collegians within her walls to-day than ever before. It is true that we need now buildings, but some day, when I come before you and say that large-hearted elizens have subscribed $100,000. It know that the other $100,000 will be forth-coming. There are 400 Alumni of St. John's, and if every graduate would put his hand in his pochet and say, I will give $100 a year, or even $50 a year it would be a vast help to the college. The Alumni can aid hernot only with money, but by advising their friends to send their children here, and in many other ways, if they always keep the cool of the institution at heart, they can aid their Alma Mater. Father Dealy spoke in part as follows:

THE LOCOMOTIVE WHISTLE NUISANCE.

H. B. Claffin, who has a residence in Fordham; N.
Haurahan, treasurer of St. John's College; Dr. D.
A. Hedges, Dr. Charles Liebenau, jr., and seventy other persons who live in the Annexed District, recently sent the Board of Health a profest against the blowing of whistles on the locomotives of the New-York and Harlem Railroad, and of the NewYork, Hartford and New-Haven Railroad, while trains are passing through the district. It was declared that the whistles were blown at all hours of the day and night, to the great annoyance of residents, and to the injury of their health. Sanitary Inspector Comfort, yesterday made a report to the board on the subject. He stated that the two railroad companies used the same tracks for six miles through the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards, and that sixty-four trains were run each way over the tracks every twenty-four hours.
There were fifteen street-crossings along the line in the two wards, and each locomotive whistled at each crossing. Every day, therefore, 1,920 blasts were blown in the district by the locomotives. He THE LOCOMOTIVE WHISTLE NUISANCE.

continued:

The noise caused by such repeated blowing of steam whistics is a great nuisance and annoyance to persons residing within 300 or 500 feet of the rairoud tracks. The noise is very skrill, sharp and piercing. During many hours of day and night the whistles accur in rapid succession and especially in the built-up pertions of the villages of Morrisania, Fordham and Tremont, where the street crossings are most numerous. This annoyance would seem to be unnecessary since the adoption of the dropgate system (which has recently been put in practice to protect the accyptant attreet crossings), as other safe and

EMPLOYERS AND WORKMEN.

The striking cigar-box makers held a meeting vesterday afternoon at Concordia Assembly Rooms, No. 28 Avenue-A. It was reported that of the Li000 members of the Union only twenty-seven have returned to work, and it is asserted that some of the smaller manufacturers are already weakening. The principal firms in the business are William Wicke & Co., employing 450 hands; Jacob Henkel, 300; and H. W. Ehrichs, 150. There are besides a number of smaller manufacturers who employ from five to ten men. The manufacturers also held a meeting and determined to persist in their refusal to recognize the Union. They, too, are confident of success, inasmuch as they have a fair stock on hand, this is the dull season, and the business is one which does not require a great deal of skill.

The forty men employed by Contractor Gedney at Thirty-ninth-st, and Broadway struck yesterday morning against the employment of "lumpers." The strike lasted only three hours, and the "lumpers" were informed by the contractor that they would have to go. BAD DRAINAGE OR SNAILS?

BAD DRAINAGE OR SNAILS?

A mystery was made in a report published in this city yesterday of the death of two children of J. Reynolds, janitor of No. 112 North Seventh-st., Brooklyn, and the sickness of two others. The room occupied by the family in the basement, which is two feet below the level of the street, is infested by the common garden smail, and Reynolds and some of the neighbors attributed the death of the children to the supposed poisonous bite of these creatures with horns, which leave sluny tracks behind them. Several neighbors said that the smails had driven them out after living a month in the rooms, as the creatures invaded their beds and were unbearable. They believed that the snails, which were frecreatures invaded their beds and were unboarable. They believed that the snails, which were frequently found about the roots of an ailanthus tree in the back yard, and which is popularly supposed to be poisonous, carried this poison with them. They all state, however, that there is a stageant pool under the floor, and that when a new floor was put down the rotton old boards, were not removed and nothing was done in the way of draining off the water.

Dr. Sweeney, of North Sixth, near Fifth-st., who has medical charge of the family, said that the children died of exhaustion, the effect of cryspechildren died of exhaustion, the effect of crystpe-lous inflammation of the arm and side, high fever and irritation of the stomach, which prevented the retaining of nourishment. The two others were suffering from causes which would produce blood poisoning—the absorption of impure atmosphere, caused by imperfect drainage. The children were now doing betterand, he thought, were likely to recover. The "snail theory," Dr. Sweeney said, did not impress him at all.

ILLEGALLY PRACTISING MEDICINE.

ILLEGALLY PRACTISING MEDICINE.

In the Court of Special Sessions yesterday Dr. Desire A. Protin, of No. 41 Bond-st., was charged with committing a misdemeanor by illegally practising medicine. The complaint was made by Dr. David Webster, of the County Medical Society, and was based on the neglect of the accused man to procure, on his diploma, the indorsement of the Society, as required by the Penal Code. It was asserted that the diploma under which the accused physician practised was one of the thousands of fraudulent certificates issued by Pame's University of Medicine and Surgery, of Philadelphia, some years ago, and that Protin, who is a Frenchman, had not sufficient knowledge of the English language to permit of his being a medical practitioner in this State. The accused man, in his defence, declared that he had attended the university named for three years, and having at the expiration of that period successfully passed the examination he secured the diploma. After consultation with his associates, Justices Kilbreth and Ford, Justice Smith adjudged the accused man guilty and imposed a fine of $100, which was neith order refers.

APPOINTING COLLEGE TUTORS.

The trustees of the College of the City of New-York yesterday voted to pay the estate of the late Professor Charles E. Anthon a balance of $579 17. Ivin Sickles was appointed a tutor in Anatomy and Physiology at a salary of $1,400 and Alfred Colin was appointed a tutor in Chemistry and Mathematics at a salary of $1,000. W. K. Olcott was continued as a tutor in Mathematics pending the result of a competitive examination. The salary of a tutor upon receiving his appointment is usually $1,000 and Messrs, Ivins and Patterson spoke and voted against giving Mr. Sickles $1,400. The larger sum was defended by Messrs. Crawford and Wood on the ground that Mr. Sickles had been a tutor in the college for several years and for that reason should receive more than a new man. The resolution appointing him at $1,400 received thirteen affirmative and two negative votes. APPOINTING COLLEGE TETORS.
